Board Responds to Lawsuit Challenging Its Authority

by Stacy Smith, Leisure World News

In response to a class action lawsuit filed by nine residents against the Leisure World Community Corporation (LWCC) and Leisure World of Maryland Corporation (LWMC), the LWCC board of directors on Aug. 28 appropriated $25,000 for an insurance deductible toward legal fees related to the lawsuit.

The board also delegated authority to the LWCC executive committee to consult with legal counsel regarding the lawsuit.

In its rationale to the LWCC board of directors, the executive committee stated that it is “an ideally positioned group” to handle day-to-day consultation with legal counsel and oversight of this legal matter, as it can “meet on short notice and effectively communicate with and between the [LWCC board of directors], management and legal counsel.”

The executive committee has requested that management track staff time and out-of-pocket expense associated with defending LWCC in the case in the event that LWCC’s costs are recoverable.

The funds for the $25,000 legal fees appropriation, which are to come from the community’s Contingency Fund, amount to $4.42 per residential unit at Leisure World.

The Complaint

The complaint, filed in the Montgomery County Circuit Court on July 19, alleges that the LWCC bylaws are in conflict with the Maryland Homeowners Association (HOA) Act. Section 106.1 of the Maryland HOA Act states that members of a homeowners association shall meet “to elect a governing body.”

Claiming the LWCC board of directors is “improperly constituted because it does not permit homeowners of the 29 housing association [mutuals] to directly elect representatives to the Governing Board [LWCC board],” the complaint asserts the board therefore does not have any authority to meet or take any actions on any matters.

Representatives from Leisure World’s 29 mutuals are selected by the members of each mutual’s board consistent with requirements set forth in Article III Sections 1 and 2 of the bylaws of LWCC to serve on the community-wide LWCC board of directors.

Article III, Section 1 states that “Each mutual is entitled to select Directors...to cast its votes and otherwise represent it on the Board of Directors.” Article III, Section 2 of the LWCC bylaws provides: “Each Mutual shall, except in compelling circumstances reported to the Board, appoint to the Board only a person who, at the time of appointment, is a director of a Mutual or has served"
Inter-Faith Chapel Volunteers Bundle Flowers and Warm Thoughts

by Kimberly Y. Choi, Leisure World News

The flowers are replete with meaning from the time they are procured using congregants’ donations, which are usually made in someone’s memory. They beautify the holy space of The Inter-Faith Chapel’s sanctuary during Sunday service.

And after the service, they represent the goodwill the congregation has for members who are unable to attend or who have occasion to appreciate a display of kindness.

A committee of about 10 volunteers gathers the flowers from the altar after Sunday service and makes them into bouquets, four each week, and delivers them to homes inside and outside of Leisure World. According to Dr. Rev. Ramonia Lee, a pastor at the Chapel, the tradition began at least 30 years ago.

Recipients may be residents who are homebound or have recently returned from a hospital.

Birthdays are a frequent occasion for flower delivery, which supports the Chapel’s annual tradition of celebrating age with a reception for members over 90 years old, who comprise about a quarter of the congregation.

‘A Faith Experience’ for Volunteers

Maggi Lindley, who heads the committee, spends about an hour each Sunday completing her arrangements.

She and other volunteers arrange that week’s flowers in used coffee cans provided by chapelgoers, covering them with stickers and a different colored paper for each month.

Lindley learned to arrange flowers by looking at professional bouquets. The activity appeals to her sense of design, which she says she got from her uncle, a window designer; as a member of the Gilbert and Sullivan Society, she is involved with planning the scenery and costumes. She is also responsible for the bouquets in the Chapel’s vestibule.

The flowers are accompanied by a card explaining that they have been on the altar in the midst of worship, and reads, “May they bring you the peace and blessing of God’s love.”

Lindley has seen that people are grateful for the flowers. On a cabinet door, it’s a different situation,” she says, “and you have to adapt to that, and that’s some of the fun part of it.”

Some recipients give her a simple thanks, while others chat at length.

For some, the delivery is a rare opportunity to talk to someone face-to-face in their own home. Samara is glad to provide the companionship they need.

“Sometimes you just hit it off with somebody,” she says. She fondly recalls hour-long conversations with people in their nineties, and once she talked with a usually very active church member who wanted company while recovering from a medical problem.

“It’s a form of love,” Lindley says of their efforts. “It’s a beautiful program; I’m really glad to be part of it.”

as a director of a housing cooperative, homeowners’ association, or condominium within the community, and ordinarily occupies his unit in the community for at least nine months a year.”

In late August, management and members of the executive committee received notification from the plaintiffs’ counsel that it plans to file an amended complaint to remove Carole Portis, Mutual 22 representative on the LWCC board of directors, from the lawsuit’s plaintiffs.

Past Attempts

The lawsuit’s remaining eight named plaintiffs – Richard Thornell, Jordain Harding, Frederick Shapiro, Marybeth Ardike, Natalie Brodsky, Valerie Williams, Priscilla Read Chenoweth and Marian Cain-Hayden – are cited in the complaint as members of JustUs, an unofficial resident group in the community.

The group, led by Sheryl Katzman, has attempted to challenge the LWCC board’s authority for at least two years. In 2016, a case was brought to the county’s Commission on Common Ownership Communities, and the group met with Maryland District 19 Delegate Bonnie Cullison in July 2017 to discuss the method of seating the LWCC board.

In an August 2017 email to the group, Cullison, citing discussions she had with officials with the Maryland Attorney General’s office, said that current practice among HOAs and Condominium Owners Associations (COAs) in Maryland was that “when there is an umbrella board, members are being appointed from the smaller boards,” and that no other Maryland HOAs or COAs had any complaints about the process.

Approximately 1,067 common ownership communities, which include HOAs and COAs, are registered in Montgomery County alone, according to the Montgomery County Department of Housing and Community Affairs.

The Future Possibilities of Cable and Internet for Leisure World

by the Technology Advisory Committee

The current 10-year bulk, or universal-rate, cable contract with Comcast expires in July 2020. The contract affords all residents a TV cable service package at approximately half the prevailing market rate.

In May 2017, the Leisure World Community Corporation (LWCC) board of directors tasked the general manager and the Technology Advisory Committee “to develop parameters for a new broadband communications services contract,” including the possibility of also obtaining, in addition to TV, bulk rate internet service.

In September 2017, the LWCC board approved a $20,000 commitment to retain a consultant (later chosen to be Columbia Telecommunications Corporation) to develop a Request for Information inviting respondents to submit their thoughts about potential services they could provide to residents in a multi-year, bulk broadband (TV and internet) services contract.

As of Aug. 1, six firms (providers) have indicated interest in submitting formal bulk service plans and approaches by the Committee’s Tuesday, Sept. 11 deadline.

The Future of TV

TV cable technology has undergone a slow transition from analog cable TV and the CATV of the ’60s and ’70s, to the digital TV of the ’90s and 2000’s and today’s internet-based TV, which provides superior quality at lower costs compared to its predecessors.

Whether it’s the high definition (HD) channels available today or the yet higher quality HD available soon – Amazon Fire TV, Roku, Netflix or YouTube Red, among others – TV has adopted internet technology for content delivery.

Comcast’s standard broadcast TV channels and/or streamed movies are delivered via the internet. Customers are encouraged to download Xfinity Stream for Apple (IOS) phones and iPads, or for Android phones or tablets.

Provider Selection

Provider selection for cable TV and/or internet is ultimately made by the LWCC board, a decision requiring consideration of the provider’s monthly price per residential unit for basic TV and internet services; cable network performance, including “speed”; availability of onsite customer service; and contract duration.

The Committee believes that many current residents want reliable, high-performance TV and internet services, which may stress the system’s current capacity. A community-wide survey mailed by management to every Leisure World residence in June of this year discovered that out of approximately 1,500 responses, 94 percent of residents have internet service.

Future residents are likely to expect their residences to have the latest and best internet connectivity. The resale value of Leisure World homes may be lower than in competing communities if the homes are not “wired” for the very best connectivity.

Possibility of Multiple Providers

If the community opts out of a bulk contract agreement, it would become the responsibility of each resident to obtain his or her own cable TV service provider. Some residents have suggested to the Committee that this would be beneficial because each resident could then select his or her own provider and whatever cable features suit each homeowner’s needs.

If the community chooses to go this route, residents might be treated as new subscribers and receive new subscriber pricing, a figure that’s usually around $80 per month for a year or two, according to research conducted by the Committee.

After the first or second year of service, however, the cost increases substantially, and service quality is not likely to improve. In fact, the Committee believes it would continue to deteriorate over time, as old cabling infrastructure remains unmaintained.

Cable and Wire Infrastructure

Whereas many residential areas of Montgomery County and elsewhere may have wires from multiple providers on the utility poles outside of their homes, Leisure World, like most planned communities, has wiring only from a single provider – in this case, Comcast.

If a community does not have enough broadband internet capacity, performance for everyone can suffer, according to Committee member Janina Sajka. Internet traffic is like traffic on the highway: If the number of automobiles on the road doubles, it’s best to increase the roads’ available lanes.

The committee believes that the likelihood that, on their own, any carrier will want to “wire” Leisure World for internet without a guarantee of a large number of users is very low – these companies are unlikely to spend millions without the confidence that they will make back their investment and a profit.

Making a Deal

No matter which provider Leisure World selects, the costs for necessary upgrades are likely to be in the millions. If Leisure World is to have TV, internet and more in the future, the committee believes that the community must make a deal with a provider to install an adequate network that works for all residents, and guarantees that the provider will, over the life of the contract, make money.

Contact

Residents may submit short questions about cable TV and broadband internet service to Technology Advisory Committee chairman Dr. Jim Leong by email at (jleong4035@aol.com) or by mail at (3701 Rossmoor Boulevard, Attn: TECH, Silver Spring, MD 20906).

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU WISH FOR

A small group of residents has just filed a lawsuit in Montgomery County Court asking the court to, among other things, find that the Leisure World Community Corporation (LWCC) board of directors was selected in violation of Montgomery County law (i.e., not by direct vote of residents), and therefore has no authority to undertake any actions whatsoever. Instead, they want a board directly elected by residents, in the hope that, among other things, this will kill the Administration Building project.

On the surface, changing our governance in this way sounds like a plausible idea. It could mean that the LWCC board would be more responsive to residents, and residents could get money back, rather than spend it on the ’frivolous’ Administration Building project. To that end, nine upstanding residents, some of whom I personally know and respect, have signed on as members of the plaintiff class, and they are asking the court to certify the suit as a ‘class action,’ meaning that all residents would be included in the suit, unless they opt out. They are also asking the court to award damages, including attorney’s fees, litigation expenses, money already spent on the Administration Building project and interest. It sounds great that we can possibly get this huge windfall, right? But what does this actually mean?

You won’t know for sure how this will pan out until it starts to work its way through the courts, but then it will be too late. Let’s think through the possibilities. Firstly, any money that accrues to residents has to come from somewhere. It certainly won’t come from any governmental organization, the court, management or anyone else. It can only come from residents.

The money that goes out, however, can go to lots of places. The biggest single chunk, as with any lawsuit, typically goes directly to the lawyers. These nice folks are taking the suit on a contingency basis, which means they almost certainly expect to earn more than their usual hourly rate, to cover the risk of getting nothing. And as you know, litigators’ fees aren’t cheap, often running about $300 per hour for an associate, and much more for the partner managing the case. And the hours involved in drafting documents, deposing witnesses, making court appearances and handling a jury trial can easily run into many hundreds of hours.

In addition, they are asking for monetary damages, and the monetary awards will go to class members only. If everyone is included in the class, there isn’t very much to go to anyone. If lots of people opt out, they get your money to split among themselves. Nice.

And that’s the good news. The bad news is what could potentially happen. They are asking for injunctive relief, and that will prevent the LWCC board from taking any actions whatsoever. Of course, “anything whatsoever” includes the budget and authorizing funds to pay McFall & Berry Inc. for mowing lawns on Trust property. While this doesn’t directly affect contracts with your mutuals, McFall & Berry Inc. may not like the idea that they are not getting paid by Leisure World, and may stop servicing your mutual as well. Ditto for Pepco and Washington Gas. And all 200 Leisure World employees could be dismissed, because we won’t have authorized funds to pay them, which means no security, no janitorial services and much more.

Both clubhouse and all of our amenities and athletic facilities could have to shut down for an undislosed length of time.

Then, with no power or light, no employees and tall, unmowed grass, how livable is your condo and how much is it worth? And how long would it take for Leisure World, 29 mutuals and 8,000 residents to agree to change all of their charters, develop rules, field candidates and hold new elections? A year? A year and a half? More?

It may be unlikely that a court would require this draconian result with little notice, but then again, when you go to court, anything can happen.

While the worst may or may not occur, what is likely is that we will pay for at least one set of lawyers – ours, and if they get what they want, we’ll pay for both sets. We will also pay court costs, which are typically not small. And that’s even before we expose ourselves to the risk of an interruption to our lifestyle and services, and diminished real estate values.

RESIDENTS NEED ACCURATE INFORMATION ABOUT THE BUDGET

The Leisure World Trust Agreement Two, Fifth Amendment, requires that the percentage increase in the “Trust Operations” portion of the budget may not exceed the percentage increase in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) as of May 31 of the previous year, unless there is a super-majority vote of the Leisure World Community Corporation (LWCC) board of directors.

Translated, this means that our Leisure World fees usually should not go up more than the cost of living. At the Leisure World Budget Forum on Aug. 9, the moderator said that Leisure World management and the LWCC board “usually” keep the increase in resident fees to the increase in the CPI. This was not an accurate statement.

Based on the past three years’ Leisure World budgets, it seems that the LWCC board “usually” does not keep our fee increases within the CPI as stated in our governing documents. I believe Leisure World residents are tired of receiving false information when we attend meetings where we are told we will receive accurate information.

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics’ website, the 2015 increase in the Washington-Baltimore CPI was 0.6 percent. Despite that, the Community Facilities Fee (CFF) imposed on all residents increased by 1.2 percent, double the increase in the CPI. In 2016, the increase in the Washington-Baltimore CPI was 1.2 percent. Despite that, the CFF imposed on all Leisure World residents increased by 2.4 percent, fully eight times the increase in the CPI.

So, in none of the past three years did Leisure World keep the increase in the CFF to the increase in the CPI. While a super-majority vote of the LWCC board of directors was always forthcoming, I believe the intent of the amendment was to allow a safety valve in the event of an emergency. Was every single one of the past three years an emergency? Is there any responsibility at all to keep costs down?

Let’s take a look at the current year. The increase in the CPI was 2.5 percent and the proposed 2019 budget calls for an increase in the CFF of 2.5 percent. However, the only reason the increase was limited to 2.5 percent was because of a recommendation from the Budget and Finance Advisory Committee – made up of Leisure World residents – which was accepted by the LWCC board.

And, it should be emphasized, that while the Leisure World Trust documents state that the increase in residents’ monthly fees should track the CPI, that is not what most residents care about. I believe that almost all Leisure World residents are receiving Social Security retirement or federal pensions, and those have increased much less than the CPI, and of course much, much less than the increase in Leisure World fees each year. So Leisure World residents are receiving much less income, yet Leisure World is charging them much higher increases in monthly fees than the amount called for in our governing documents, at least once eight times more.

The LWCC board should require Leisure World management to propose budgets that have increases in monthly fees that are no more than the increase in the CPI. And whoever presides at Leisure World meetings should give truthful answers.

– Paul Bessel

CLASS ACTION SUIT

You may be aware that a class action suit has been filed by nine Leisure World residents representing other unnamed residents to stop the Leisure World Community Corporation (LWCC) board of directors elected by your mutual from conducting any business. The court filing is available on Leisure World’s residents’ website, (residents.lwmc.com).

In essence, the plaintiffs contend that the Leisure World Trust legal documents are in conflict with the Maryland...
Homeowners Association Act, and that the method of electing the directors to the LWCC board is illegal, even though the Leisure World and mutual election process governing documents have been in effect many years. Your mutual board elects the representatives to the LWCC board of directors. Therefore, because the board of directors is illegal in their view, the plaintiffs are asking the court to do, in simple terms, the following:

a. That the court determines the constitutionality of Article III, Section 1 of the bylaws of the LWCC. (Is the election of a director to the LWCC board by the current mutual election voting procedure illegal?)

b. That the court finds that LWCC violates the rights of the plaintiffs to elect a governing board. (Mutual boards cannot select a director to the LWCC board and the residents must elect a director to the LWCC board.)

c. That the court prevents any elections similar to the election process as stated in the Leisure World bylaws. (The current LWCC board election process cannot be used, and a different voting method has to be in place prior to any new election.)

d. That the court issues temporary, preliminary and permanent injunctive relief enjoining board of directors from taking any action, including, but not limited to, pursuing the proposed development and expending any funds thereto. (The current LWCC board can take no action and cannot authorize spending of any funds.)

e. That the court award plaintiffs and class members the costs of these proceedings. (Leisure World will pay all the plaintiff costs, including legal costs.)

f. That the court awards the plaintiffs and class members such other and further relief as in law and justice they may be entitled to receive. (Leisure World pays any court awarded damages to the plaintiffs.)

g. That the court award the plaintiffs and class members an amount equal to the improperly spent funds in compensatory damages and such other and further relief as in law and justice they may be entitled to receive. Leisure World will refund to the plaintiffs and class members the two percent resales funds expended on a new Administration Building. (Stated as nearly one million dollars in the suit.)

The class action suit has been brought by nine residents who are filing this in the name of a “class” which represents unnamed others in the community. The bottom line of all this is that Leisure World is “us” the residents, and whatever is given to the plaintiffs and class members (including legal fees, etc.) will be paid for by you as a Leisure World unit owner.

While this lawsuit goes through the legal process, it is very possible that no new endeavors will be authorized/funded by the LWCC board until this is resolved — which could be years. In the end, regardless of the outcome of the legal proceedings, the community will likely suffer one way or another with higher costs and delays in projects and improvements.

PROPOSED ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

The Aug. 3 edition of Leisure World News featured a letter protesting the handling of the much-debated Administration Building. Specifically, the letter deplored Leisure World management/Leisure World Community Corporation (LWCC) board decision-makers’ failure to adequately consult residents, and concludes that decision makers “...will continue to ignore the huge number of Leisure World residents who do not want a new Administration Building...” Such waywardness, the letter states, “prove(s) that the LWCC board and management have contempt for Leisure World residents.”

“Contempt” is indeed the appropriate word in this context. Unfortunately, however, the letter’s own proposed remedy — namely, a town hall meeting — reflects a misunderstanding of this community’s basic problem. The following is my own summary “take” on our dilemma:

1. The letter’s suggestion that we have an Administration Building-themed meeting may appear sensible but is problematic, in part because the letter makes no mention that such a meeting has already been held and was simply ignored by our governors. Perhaps more importantly, decision makers’ attendance at a future meeting would likely prompt an understandable but disruptive display of residents’ accumulated anger, thereby allowing the elite to claim (most pointedly, before the Montgomery County Planning Board) that irresponsible malcontents had hijacked the gathering. Finally, it is not clear what a meeting would actually accomplish, other than to provide an outlet for a cacophony of opinions.

2. If a referendum would, in principle, be a more ordered and hence more effective way to proceed, and here again there is a precedent: some 1,600 Leisure World residents have already signed a protest petition deploring failure to seek adequate popular input on the Administration Building. It, too, was ignored by decision makers, who must be aware that an “official” referendum would likely register an even more devastating rejection of their plans. (How many of us have ever met fellow residents outside “official circles” supportive of the project, especially since its final price tag remains at best an uneducated guess?) Elite resistance to a referendum is therefore presumably implausible, since its results would likely be tantamount to a humiliating vote of no confidence.

3. In sum, while on the right track, the letter arrives at the wrong destination. That is because it neglects the most fundamental but least often noted factor accounting for this and previous Leisure World controversies. Simply stated, we do not live in a democratically governed community because the LWCC board itself is not elected by all residents, but only by members of the various mutual boards, who alone select members for the LWCC board. The situation is analogous to the once-prevailing selection of U.S. senators by their respective state legislatures rather than by the people. That oligarchic anomaly was eliminated by passage of the 17th Amendment in 1913, mandating direct election of senators.

4. Over 100 years later, Leisure World residents still abide a similarly outrageous violation of basic democratic practice. Nothing will change until they, too, can directly elect their representatives from among a field of competing candidates — just as they elect their US senators.

The “competitive” part of the formula is as vital as the purely electoral part: candidates should clearly state what they stand for — what ideas and policies they intend to advocate should they win endorsement by their peers. Ideally, candidates would also agree on common inter-mutual platforms, so as to ensure that their individual voices carried collective weight in what should be, but at present is definitely not, a democratic forum reflecting community concerns, interests and priorities. (The existing Administration Building approval process has yet to be shown to register for any of these criteria.)

5. Is this mere idealism? Perhaps, but it is also the only sure remedy for the otherwise perpetual plight of being held hostage by an undemocratic coterie — elected and unelected. To end this contemptible situation requires attainment of authentic democracy, itself only achievable via a comparably authentic democratic electoral process, with the proposed town hall meeting, recast as an organizing meeting, being a possible first step in this direction.

JUST THE FACTS

There has been much dispute about replacing our Administration Building, and with good reason. $6 million is a lot of money. Here’s how I think it should be settled.

Let the administration give us the facts. Tell us just what the flaws are in the present building and give us an estimate for the cost of repair, furnished by reputable contractors. Then, and only then, can we make an informed, fact-based decision.

But please don’t talk about space. There is already enough space for an outside real estate agency (which, in my opinion, shouldn’t be there in the first place), a bank (which doesn’t even use the lavish space assigned to it), mutual offices (which could supply their own space, like my mutual does), and a large unused atrium.

And please don’t talk about access (which has been adequate for 50 years and which could be improved if needed without tearing down the building).

Just tell us what the structural problems are and how much it would cost to correct them. If the administration is not willing to do this, then the project should be rejected.

OVERREPRESENTATION IN LEISURE WORLD

If more residents were interested to learn how Leisure World is governed, they might discover how little their overall needs and wants are being addressed. In other words, more representation is provided (by way of voting rights) for the few, and the rest of us are left to fend for ourselves. I believe some Leisure World residents in positions of authority and influence here are allowed more opportunities to vote than others.

The topic of Leisure World overall governance is too big to include in one opinion letter. Therefore, I will focus only on a subcategory of our governance – the Leisure World Community Corporation (LWCC) executive committee. This committee currently consists of seven residents who are given voting rights as members.

Six of the members (including the chair) are required to be members of their mutual board. In my opinion, LWCC executive committee members should not be allowed additional voting rights as members of their respective mutual boards. Instead, they might attend and participate in these meetings, but not be allowed another chance to vote in Leisure World.

In addition to having the extra voting opportunities previously described, LWCC executive committee members can become members of as many advisory committees as they want. In my opinion, LWCC executive committee members should not be allowed yet another chance to cast their singular vote in these various advisory committees. They should, however, be encouraged to attend all open meetings, so that they can listen to other residents’ comments, concerns and ideas. This potential “double dipping” and over reaching by this LWCC executive committee can create, at the very least, an appearance of conflict of interest.

For example, how can residents be confident in the efficacy of their advisory committees, when there may be no pure distinction between who is advising whom. The LWCC executive committee members who are currently serving on various advisory committees are potentially overlapping their own advice.

Among other things, we need to improve the structure of our governance in Leisure World, so that all residents are represented in a more balanced way. At the very least, the LWCC executive committee members who are currently on advisory committees should step down as voting members. That is, unless, they would rather resign from the LWCC executive committee instead.

92 ACRES OF GREENSPACE, NOT AN 18-HOLE GOLF COURSE

There is little dispute that 92 acres of beautiful, well-maintained green space is a valuable and treasured feature that should be preserved and enhanced. I believe that this is a pretty universal feeling of residents, old and new. Every effort should be made to preserve this important asset. Whether or not the land should continue as an 18-hole golf course is another matter.

We currently hire half a dozen staff members and spend millions to maintain an 18-hole course that struggles to attract a sufficient number of golfers to justify these significant costs. There is a multitude of other less costly and more widely beneficial ways to protect these precious 92 acres.

Alternative uses might provide benefits to more residents at lower cost. How about these?

• A picnic ground might provide access around an attractive gazebo or bandstand and would provide recreational opportunities for residents and their visitors. Such an area would not require daily watering or frequent mowing.

• A flower garden, (maybe a mini version of Brookside Gardens) could provide walking paths and vistas of changing color, another opportunity for residents to tend a flower garden.

• A miniature golf center could provide a missing recreational opportunity for residents and their family members, requiring minimal maintenance.

• A “Pro Course,” (a walking trail with installed exercise stations) could provide enhanced opportunity for maintaining fitness and health.

The opportunities are nearly unlimited. Many would require some initial investment; most would entail reduced maintenance expense. None of these preclude keeping a 9-hole golf course, but all preserve our 92-acre treasure.

Developing the 92 acres into additional residences was proposed once. Those proposals were vigorously rejected, and I think they would continue to be.

Some residents have made the claim that a full 18-hole golf course must be maintained. A good friend of mine has said, “the golf course was here when I bought, and better be here when I sell!” Some residents bought when there were phone booths widely available; some bought when Clubhouse II provided a bowling alley; many bought when there was a full-service bank branch here. Some bought when there was a central TV antenna system, and no cable TV; others when the medical center was supplied as a direct function of our management rather than MedStar. Many residents came here when staff had no computers. A few years ago, we had no Communications Department, but our leaders considered changing times, changing needs, new investment opportunities and a more refined budget. They adapted to new realities. I submit that we are better off for the changes.

Hispanos de Leisure World

Sept. 15: Mariachi Estrellas Perform

by Samuel Sánchez

On Saturday, Sept. 15, Hispanos de Leisure World present Mariachi Estrellas. The ensemble performs the music the world has come to identify with Mexico – mariachi – at 3 p.m. in the Clubhouse II auditorium.

Tickets, $10 per person and checks only (payable to Hispanos de LW), are on sale in the Clubhouse I E&R office. Last year, tickets almost sold out, so don’t delay.

The ensemble established itself as one of the most outstanding performance groups based in the nation’s capital, performing to audiences that have included White House and governmental dignitaries, diplomats, television personalities, professional athletes and lovers of folkloric music.

Join Mariachi Estrellas and their dance ensemble as they showcase the musical and rhythmic variations that have developed in Mexico’s different regions.

The orchestra concept was conceived around the late 1700s or early 1800s in Mexico.

The instruments include the violin and trumpet, which usually play the melody. Trumpets were introduced in the early 20th century and became an integral part of the band.

Residents will enjoy this amazing group of professional musicians as they express joy and pride in a rich musical heritage.
Sept. 21: Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Marijuana, But Were Afraid to Ask

As marijuana, also known by its scientific name, cannabis, becomes legalized around the country, more adults are open to learning about its medicinal benefits.

What is cannabis? How can cannabis help me? Receive answers to these and other questions from Dr. Patricia C. Frye on Friday, Sept. 21 at 1 p.m. in the Clubhouse I Crystal Ballroom.

Licensed practical nurse Dawn Marie Merrill also provides information on navigating dispensaries and registering with the Maryland Medical Marijuana Commission.

She is a member of the Society of Cannabis Clinicians, The Maryland Medical Society’s Cannabis Task Force and the Association of Cannabis Specialists; and is a Fellow of the Academy of Integrative Pain Management.

As author of the upcoming book, “The Medical Marijuana Guide: Cannabis and Your Health,” to be released in November 2018, Frye explains how and why cannabis works and how it can help various physical and mental ailments.

Dawn Marie Merrill is a licensed practical nurse and clinical nurse educator for United Patients Group, producers of the docuseries “The Sacred Plant.” Merrill specializes in geriatric home health and is affiliated with Mission, a medical marijuana dispensary that opens near the Glenmont Metro in October 2018.

Medicinal Marijuana

Medicinal use of marijuana dates back at least 5,000 years, according to the National Center for Biotechnology Information’s website. In the U.S., marijuana was a prescription medication for over 100 years. In 1942, it was removed from the U.S. Pharmacopoeia despite objections from the American Medical Association, and some doctors lost sight of its many medicinal benefits and high safety profile.

Today, marijuana is reemerging as an important cultural, social and political topic, but information about the plant is often incomplete, inconsistent and false. As a result, many people are misinformed.

It is important to get information from a reliable and trustworthy source before deciding if cannabis might be a useful and safe tool for alleviating your symptoms and helping you feel better. If cannabis has piqued your interest, come to the presentation and become educated on the pros and cons of using medicinal cannabis.

Sept. 29: Randy Riggle – Nostalgia Show

Long before computers, answering machines and cell phones, there were drive-ins instead of drive-thrus. Coke wasn’t “Classic”; it came from a soda fountain or its green, glass bottle. And the only survivor series on TV was Gilligan and his crew.

Times have changed, but have we? Do you still remember the first record you owned? How about sitting around the radio instead of the television? And every night was a classic car cruise! Was it really that long ago?

On Saturday, Sept. 29, at 7 p.m. in the Clubhouse II auditorium, stand-up comedian Randy Riggle will lead you down memory lane, through the ‘40s, ’50s, and ’60s. You’ll be taken back to that fateful day at Pearl Harbor until the first steps are taken on the lunar surface. The trip will be filled with reminiscences, songs and laughs.

Oct. 17: Ziva’s Spanish Dance Ensemble

Ziva’s Spanish Dance Ensemble brings the world of Spanish dance to Leisure World on Wednesday, Oct. 17, at 2 p.m. in the Clubhouse II auditorium.

This program, sponsored by the E&R Department, is free, but tickets, limit two per household, are required. They are available beginning on Tuesday, Sept. 11, at 8:30 a.m. in both clubhouse E&R offices. Please bring your Leisure World ID.

Established in 1995, Ziva’s Spanish Dance Ensemble performs captivating Spanish dances that range from the fiery and seductive flamenco of Andalusia to the spirited jota, folk dances of Aragon. The ensemble performance also blends traditional Spanish with modern dance, resulting in unique choreography.

Under the direction of Ziva Cohen, founder and artistic director, the Ensemble has evolved from a handful of flamenco dancers to a group of premier dancers who have diverse and international backgrounds in dance. Members wear traditional costumes to help illustrate the geography of Spain; and through dance and music, along with background images and maps, the group imparts some Spanish history and culture.

The Ensemble has appeared in a variety of venues in the Washington, D.C., area including the Kennedy Center’s Millennium Stage, the Corcoran Gallery of Art, Lisner Auditorium and others.

Cohen is an accomplished flamenco dancer, teacher and choreographer of Spanish dance. An active member of the Washington, D.C., area performing arts community, Cohen was a recipient of the Metro D.C. Dance Award for “Outstanding Production in Multicultural/World Dance.” Additionally, she choreographed work for Yo Yo Ma’s “Silk Road Project,” which was sponsored by the Washington Performing Arts Society.

She also has choreographed dances for the Washington Ballet.

Free ‘Stepping On’ Program Addresses Fall Prevention

by Ellen Lederman and Sandra McLeskey

Many people may know someone over the age of 65 who has fallen. It is estimated that approximately one in four people in this age group fall each year, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Moreover, the CDC estimates that of those who fall, approximately 35 percent were injured to the extent that they required medical treatment or had to restrict their activities.

To address this vital issue, the Health Advisory Committee is bringing a new and exciting program to Leisure World called “Stepping On.”

Stepping On is a free Montgomery County-supported fall prevention program. It was first developed in Australia and is spreading throughout the U.S. It has been proven to reduce the risk of falls and has made seniors safer in their home environment.

The program’s seven weekly sessions are led by trained professionals who focus on balance and strength building, fall prevention through safety awareness and the important role of medications, vision and footwear and their effect on the quality of life.

Residents who are 65 years old and over, have fallen in the past year, are fearful of falling or have almost lost their balance and are concerned about their safety and avoiding injury are encouraged to attend this program.

Program Sessions

Stepping On begins Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 10 a.m. and continues each Tuesday for seven weeks through Nov. 6. Participants are asked to commit to the entire program to ensure that the concepts, practice and reinforcement that occur during the program are incorporated into registrants’ overall lifestyle.

The class is free, but residents are asked to preregister beginning on Tuesday, Sept. 11, at 8:30 a.m. by either calling (301-598-1300) or stopping by the Clubhouse I E&R office. The class size is limited to 25 people.

Sept. 26: Certified Fitness Trainer Speaks on Mindful Meditation

by Sandra McLeskey

Are you tense and anxious? Do you have a high stress living situation or job, or have trouble relaxing before bedtime?

Residents who answered “yes” to any of these questions might benefit from attending a presentation on mindful meditation on Wednesday, Sept. 26, at 1 p.m. in Clubhouse I.

Terrie Daniels, a certified fitness trainer and Brooke Grove Retirement Village’s senior fitness and wellness specialist, speaks on the scientific evidence for the benefits of meditation and introduces the audience to some mindful meditation exercises. She is trained in mindful meditation and mindfulness-based stress reduction.

The presentation is free, but tickets are required and can be obtained beginning on Tuesday, Sept. 11, at 8:30 a.m. in the Clubhouse I E&R office.

What Is Mindful Meditation?

Originating from Buddhist traditions, mindful meditation is a practice that involves bringing one’s complete attention to the present experience. People who practice it have reported alleviation of distressing emotional symptoms, such as anxiety, worry or obsessive thinking.

Mindful meditation may help alleviate these symptoms by decreasing stress, which may also have physical benefits. It only requires a time commitment of 10-30 minutes per day.

Come to the presentation on Sept. 26 to learn more about mindful meditation.

Help for Hopelessness

by Sandra McLeskey

A person in crisis may feel they have no way to alleviate their pain or address their problems. Suicide is a growing health problem in America; the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has documented an increase in suicide rates in nearly every state, including Maryland.

Since the high-profile suicides of fashion designer Kate Spade and TV chef Anthony Bourdain, television stations have promulgated the National Suicide Prevention Line, available by calling (1-800-273-8255), a valuable resource for someone who is feeling desperate or hopeless.

Social Services

In Leisure World, residents have additional resources to call upon. Leisure World’s Social Services Department is available Monday through Friday, from 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., by calling (301-598-1581). The Department does not charge for its services; their primary concern is the well being of residents.

The Department’s social workers are experienced in identifying resources that can help residents who are experiencing financial, healthcare, mental health or transportation issues, or who need to obtain personal services, such as counseling – basically anything that is a challenge to the resident.

The social workers know about resources a resident might not know about, or may not know they are eligible to use. If a resident is homebound and unable to come to their offices in the MedStar Health medical center, they can come to the resident’s home.

Residents who are concerned about a neighbor or friend who is experiencing difficulties can confidentially refer that person to the Social Services Department. A social worker will contact the individual, but will not reveal the identity of the person who referred them and, in many cases, will not mention that someone referred them.

Crisis Center

If a resident is experiencing a crisis outside of regular business hours, the Montgomery County Crisis Center is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. They provide consultations over the telephone at (240-777-4000) or in person at 1301 Piccard Drive in Rockville, Maryland (no appointment is needed).

Crisis evaluation and referral is available for all crises – psychiatric and situational. Friends or relatives can make referrals to the Crisis Center.

Callers to the Crisis Center are immediately connected with a mental health professional. If the caller is unable or unwilling to come to the Center, the Center will respond with a mobile team anywhere in Montgomery County.

If needed, the mobile team will respond with police backup, which can be especially important for domestic violence situations or imminent suicide attempts. Friends or relatives should call 911 in such situations.

Sometimes a distraught person will leave their home on foot or in a vehicle. These situations may be very dangerous for the person, who might become lost, get into an accident or encounter unscrupulous individuals.

The Montgomery County Police Department has a unit that specializes in finding people with dementia, mental health problems or a developmental disability. Concerned relatives or friends should call 911 for assistance in finding the person in crisis.
According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, age-related macular degeneration (AMD) is the most frequent cause of vision loss in the U.S. for people over 65.

AMD damages the central part of the retina that is important for sharp vision for objects that are straight ahead. One version of AMD, called dry AMD, develops gradually and can lead to progressive loss of central vision.

Worsening of dry AMD can be delayed by certain vitamin supplements. Sometimes dry AMD can progress quickly to wet AMD, which involves the growth of new blood vessels in the central part of the retina. Wet AMD can quickly lead to substantial vision loss but can be treated with injections or lasers.

On Thursday, Sept. 27, Dr. Raza M. Shah, an ophthalmologist specializing in diseases of the retina, discusses macular degeneration at 1:30 p.m. in Clubhouse I. The presentation is free, but tickets are required and can be obtained beginning on Tuesday, Sept. 11, at 8:30 a.m. in the Clubhouse I E&R office.

Speaker Information
Shah is interested in age-related macular degeneration, diabetic retinopathy and complex retinal detachments. He is a member of the American Society of Retinal Specialists and the American Academy of Ophthalmology.

Shah earned his medical degree at Drexel University College of Medicine and remained there for his residency in ophthalmology. He received his fellowship training in vitreoretinal surgery at the Associated Retina Consultants in Phoenix, Arizona.
Oct. 2: Sepsis – Know the Warning Signs
by Sandra McLeskey

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, more than 1.5 million people are diagnosed with sepsis each year in the U.S., and about 250,000 of them die.

Of all the people who die in hospitals, one out of three die of sepsis. But most cases of sepsis start at home. Understanding the warning signs of sepsis can help people obtain medical help in a timely fashion.

Sepsis happens when bacteria get into the bloodstream. This can happen from an infected wound, a bladder infection and pneumonia, or from a surgical site. The immune system mounts a powerful response to the bloodstream infection.

Unfortunately, this powerful immune response can do as much or more harm than the actual infection. Sepsis can set up a chain reaction that may lead to multiple organ failure and death.

On Tuesday, Oct. 2, Alison Karpa, cardiovascular nurse practitioner at MedStar Montgomery medical center, discusses sepsis and its warning signs at 1:30 p.m. in Clubhouse I. She will explain the signs and symptoms of sepsis, risk factors for sepsis and the steps to take when someone is suspected of having sepsis.

Her presentation is free, but tickets are required and can be obtained beginning on Tuesday, Sept. 11, at 8:30 a.m. in the Clubhouse I E&R office.

Speaker Information
Karpa was a cardiology nurse practitioner at MedStar Washington Hospital Center before coming to MedStar Montgomery medical center five years ago. She has been on the sepsis committee since then and has served as the chair for the past two years.

She obtained her bachelor’s at the University of Pennsylvania and worked in cardiology and the intensive care unit at MedStar Georgetown University Hospital and Inova Fairfax.

She then received her master’s in nursing with a focus on adult acute care from the University of Pennsylvania.

Oct. 9: Program Considers ‘The Cost of Care’
by Fred Shapiro

On Tuesday, Oct. 9, the Center for Lifelong Learning (CLL) presents Mary O’Donoghue, founder and managing director of Corewood Care, a local, woman-operated and owned care management and home care organization that helps older adults age in place.

O’Donoghue will speak about “The Cost of Care” at 10 a.m. in Clubhouse I. Her presentation provides an overview and discussion of current care options available to those who wish to age in place, as well as other options for different levels of care.

The discussion focuses on the cost of these options, the common misconceptions about receiving care, coverage eligibility and the process of obtaining care.

The program is free, but residents are requested to register to attend beginning on Tuesday, Sept. 11, at 8:30 a.m. by either stopping by the Clubhouse I E&R office or calling (301-598-1300).

Attend the presentation to learn more about care options for aging in place.

Presenter Information
O’Donoghue’s experience caring for older adults started at 11 years old, when her father, a local physician, was diagnosed with early onset Alzheimer’s disease. O’Donoghue helped her mother care for her father in their home until he passed away when she was 17.

Four years ago, she decided to leave the legal field and pursue a career that would allow her to help families who were going through some of the healthcare challenges she and her mother faced. Corewood Care has helped more than 250 families in the area.

O’Donoghue received her law degree from New York Law School and worked in the Legal and Compliance Divisions for Credit Suisse and JP Morgan Chase, and for the Legal Aid Society of Columbus, Ohio.
FISH is Here to Help

by Beth Leanza

FISH volunteers are like librarians; they lend out items. They are not medically trained and are not physical therapists. Volunteers keep records of what they have lent and to whom. Unlike libraries though, all FISH items are donated.

FISH recommends a one-three month loan. If a resident needs to keep an item longer, he or she can contact president of FISH, Beth Leanza, at (301-598-4569).

Inventory

The FISH office’s inventory includes wheelchairs, walkers, commodes and shower chairs. Giveaway items include canes, elevated toilet seats, crutches and easy reachers. FISH often receives donated incontinence aids, pads and nutrition beverages.

Giveaway items are kept in the Clubhouse II basement to the left of the FISH area. Take the elevator (near the E&R office.) The FISH area is to the right, and the giveaway items are located to the left of this area. These items are for the taking, and do not need to be limited to residents.

Other Charities

FISH likes to help other organizations, too, by being the place where residents can drop off donations.

The Lions Club collects glasses and hearing aids, and the Kiwanis Club helps Ronald McDonald House by collecting can tabs.

FISH is happy to help other organizations, either for a temporary or ongoing donation collection.

General Information

In addition to items for loan, FISH also houses lost and found items. Someone from the E&R office can assist residents with loans and lost and found items after hours.

Volunteers are in the FISH office Monday to Friday (except for major holidays) from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. The office phone number is (301-598-1345).

FISH is always looking for new members. If interested, contact president Beth Leanza at (301-598-4569). FISH suggests that new volunteers complete a training/orientation session with a current volunteer.
Edmonson Historical Society

Group Explores the History of Leisure World and its Vicinity

by Dianne Bradley, Sandy Bourne and Juanita Sealy-Williams

Did you know that the land residents live on in Leisure World is a continuing part of an intriguing and dynamic history?

The Edmonson Historical Society explores how Leisure World’s land and surrounding areas have been part of a continuing progression from slavery and the Underground Railroad to abolition, emancipation, segregation, integration and thriving commerce.

The Society’s next meeting is on Wednesday, Sept. 12, at 10:30 a.m. in Clubhouse I.

Consider joining the Society and help plan some of its exciting adventures. Membership is only $10 and the meetings are open to all residents and their guests.

The Button Farm

At the Society’s meeting on Thursday, Nov. 8, at 11 a.m., the guest speaker is Anthony Cohen, president of the Menare Foundation. The Foundation runs the Button Farm in Germantown, Maryland, which describes itself as Maryland’s only living history center interpreting 19th century plantation life, on the Farm’s website, (buttonfarm.com). Oprah Winfrey used the Button Farm to prepare for her role as a slave in the movie “Beloved.” Cohen will give a compelling presentation on the role of plantation farming and the Underground Railroad.

Edmonson Family

Previously, the Society has explored the history of the Edmonson family. Paul Edmonson, whose wife and 14 children were slaves, was a free man who owned 40 acres of land on what is now the Underground Railroad.

His family has a rich history: from escaping slavery to purchasing freedom and traveling the country with famous abolitionists such as Harriet Beecher Stowe and Frederick Douglass.

The Society has also produced a video of interviews with people connected to the Edmonson family and the historic town of Norbeck. Recently, the Society explored the role of the Quakers, the faith movement that has played an integral part in the history of this vicinity.

Free Non-political Discussion Group Proposed

The purpose of this proposed free group is to provide stimulating discussions on topics of a non-political nature.

Topics could include discussions on the solutions to uncontrollable population growth, the belief in free will or pre-destination or whether computers will, one day, control mankind.

Group members will choose discussion topics, as long as they are non-political.

If interested in joining such a group or for more information, contact Wally at (301-288-4276) or (yabobecker@aol.com).

Garden and Environmental Club

Sept. 10: ‘Vegetable Gardening When Mother Nature Doesn’t Cooperate’

by Mary Ann Steele

All residents are invited to join the Garden and Environmental Club at its first meeting of the season on Monday, Sept. 10, at 10 a.m. in Clubhouse I.

Erica Smith, a Montgomery County master gardener since 2007, presents the meeting’s program. Her topic of discussion is “Vegetable Gardening When Mother Nature Doesn’t Cooperate.”

In addition to speaking on food gardening topics, she has been part of the “Grow It, Eat It” program since its inception, and works regularly in the Derwood Demonstration Garden, where she headed the vegetable garden team for 10 years.

Smith enjoys growing herbs, native plants and just about anything else she can fit into her half-acre Germantown property’s community garden plot. She is also the published author of several books.

Current and new members are encouraged to come early to socialize and partake in coffee, tea and homemade desserts before the meeting.

Membership

One does not need to have a garden plot to become a member. Membership consists of both current and former gardeners who enjoy socializing and participating in horticulture and environmental programs.

For more information about membership, contact membership chair Gwen Raphael at (301-598-7653) or (graphael@verizon.net).
Renew Your Garden Plot
by Cindy Hensen

As the garden plots’ plants are hit with either rain or sweltering heat, gardeners carry on. This year’s crops have been either plentiful or scarce, but have included a beautiful display of colorful flowers – everything from roses to sunflowers and daisies.

Plot Renewal Changes
Gardeners who attended the last Group meeting received a new set of rules for the 2019 garden season.
All garden plot renewal applications must be submitted by Saturday, Dec. 1. On Dec. 1, all plots that have not been assigned will be considered vacant and abandoned and made available to new applicants.

By logging into the resident website (residents.lwmc.com), gardeners will be able to access the garden’s rules and regulations as well as view and print the application forms for a garden plot or a plot renewal.

New gardeners will need to bring the completed form to the Clubhouse I E&R office.

Plot Renewal Changes
Once the application forms for a new garden plot have been completed and made available to new applicants, the garden's rules and regulations will be considered for the next gardener.

Garden Updates
Cleaning and preparing a garden plot ensures the next gardener a clean space to begin his or her garden, and also ensures that the previous renter gets his or her deposit returned.

A “prepared” plot is a plot that has been checked by the inspectors for debris and over-grown weeds. A father-daughter team recently cleaned a garden plot together, and it was later rented.

New gardeners will need to bring the completed form to the Clubhouse I E&R office.

Do not include a check until a plot is assigned.
If renewing a plot, bring the completed form and a check to the Clubhouse I E&R office.

Casper Voogt, a mineral collector who has traveled to more than 50 countries, takes the Club on a virtual trip to Madagascar at the Wednesday, Sept. 12, meeting at 7 p.m. in Clubhouse II.

He has collected minerals in the U.S., Europe, Myanmar, Russia, Morocco and Madagascar. Voogt, who designs websites for a living, also is a mineral dealer at local gem and mineral shows.

In 2014, Voogt joined 60 others on a three-week field trip to Madagascar under the auspices of the Hudson Mineralogical Society’s (Mindat.org) outreach program. The trip was over dirt roads into backcountry away from where one would most likely go as a tourist.

In addition to the minerals and mines, interesting landscapes and wildlife were visible. At the meeting, Voogt will show some of the specimens he collected on the trip. Those who have mineral specimens from Madagascar in their collection are encouraged to bring them for show-and-tell.

Meetings of the Gem, Lapidary and Mineral Society are open to all residents. Come and join in!

Rossmoor Art Guild Adds Two New Teachers to Fall Roster

by Ann Bolt

Two new teachers have been added to the Rossmoor Art Guild’s (RAG) fall roster. Bertrand Mao, who some members and residents may remember from the Spring Fling presentation, has joined the staff to teach a six-week session on Chinese brush painting.

He was born in the Jiangsu province of China and has studied and practiced Chinese calligraphy and painting for many years. He is currently affiliated with VisArts in Rockville, Maryland.

He is scheduled to teach class on Mondays from 10 a.m.-12:30 p.m. in the Art studio in Clubhouse I, starting Monday, Sept. 17.

Beginning Tuesday, Sept. 18, something different is offered for working residents who want to keep their creativity alive: an evening class from 6:30-9 p.m.

Resident Eileen Dunn Lange is offering a Mixed Media Beyond Canvas class. It promises to be fun and relaxing. Any level of artistic acclamation is accepted.

Open House

On Thursday, Sept. 13, RAG holds its Open House from 1-3:30 p.m., which includes an opportunity to register for classes and catch a bargain in art supplies and books. Light refreshments are available.

The Open House provides an excellent opportunity to talk to the teachers and choose your preferred classes. All skill levels are welcome.

Class Information

Barbara Piegari is scheduled to teach an oil painting with brush and knife class on Mondays from 1-3:30 p.m. She teaches a similar class, oils and acrylics, on Thursday afternoons, also from 1-3:30 p.m.

On Tuesday mornings beginning at 9:30 a.m. to noon, Ron Erlich guides students through experimentation with any medium. His students are a productive bunch and tend to come early and stay late.

And then on Wednesday afternoons, Genevieve Sadeghi teaches a class in oil and acrylic painting and miniatures from 1-3:30 p.m. Her students’ work often finds itself amid the miniature show held at Strathmore in Bethesda, Maryland.

On Thursdays, from 10 a.m.-12:30 p.m., Millie Shott continues her Painting is for Everyone class, focusing on basic watercolor.

On Fridays, Firouzeh Sadeghi teaches a watercolor painting class from 1:30-4 p.m. that serves as a good foundation for learning the medium.

Open studio, held on Saturdays from 10 a.m.-12:30 p.m., provides an opportunity for independent study and experimentation, and a chance to catch up with classwork.

All classes are $65 for residents and $70 for non-residents. Students must be RAG members to participate in all of its activities.

RAG membership is $15 per year. Lockers and plastic covers for the tables are available as well.

Fall Session and Exhibits

Fall session classes begin on Monday, Sept. 17, and end on Saturday, Oct. 27. The next session begins just two days later, on Monday, Oct. 29.

RAG will introduce a third new teacher, Doris Bryant, who will teach pastel painting on Tuesday afternoons.

RAG provides several opportunities for students to explore various mediums before winter comes. A schedule is posted in the hallway in Clubhouse I across from the studio as well as on the studio doors.

Meanwhile, enjoy the exhibits in Clubhouse I. The hallways reflect a September-October theme for Open Studio, and include references to songs and birthdays and all kinds of things.

RAG is also exhibiting in the Credit Union in the Administration Building during September and October.

Rossmoor Camera Club

Sept. 25: Members Meet for First Competition of the Season

by Fred Shapiro

The Rossmoor Camera Club meets for the first competition of its season on Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 7 p.m. in Clubhouse II.

The competition’s judge is photographer Neil Schlosburg, who will critique all entrees and select the award-winning submissions. The competition theme is open, so any image is eligible for consideration. Club members are encouraged to enter their best photos regardless of the subject.

Members are encouraged to select their best work and enter them in the competition in either print or digital format. Two entries are acceptable in each format. Send digital images to (RossmoorLW@gmail.com).

Background Information

Schlosburg is a native Washingtonian who grew up around Polaroid and Brownie box cameras. It was watching the Polaroid negatives develop that really drew Schlosburg into photographic imagery.

Earlier in his life, Schlosburg created art with pastels and charcoal, but now, he prefers to “paint” with light. Schlosburg’s camera is his palette, his lenses are his brushes, Photoshop is his painter’s knife and metal is his canvas.

His passion for photography began with black and white film, capturing images with a pinhole camera. He then developed and printed them as contact sheets in his summer camp’s darkroom.

From there, he used a variety of film cameras and his own darkroom, and then moved on to several digital SLRs. He now owns a digital mirrorless camera, along with an old film camera.

Schlosburg’s love of music also entered his creative process, albeit in an unexpected way. Looking at one of his fine art images, a large, white flower with petals like delicate linen, his wife said it reminded her of a beautiful wedding dress.

The moment she made that comment, Billy Idol’s “White Wedding” played in Schlosburg’s head. Since then, all of his images are named after a song or album title or band name.

Monthly Programs

In an effort to attract new members, the Club is using its monthly programs and competitions to help residents appreciate and improve their photographic skills.

While the Club has two categories of membership for its competitions — general and advanced, most members are using the basics of the hobby — point and shoot cameras or iPhones and basic computer software for editing that comes with their PC or Mac computer.

The programs are intended to provide insight into these features and how they can be used to produce better photographs. Consider joining the Club to share your experiences in photography with members.

October Competition

The Club’s next competition in October emphasizes circles, curves and arcs. Check your photo collection for images that emphasize these three features.

Eligible photos feature such images as a circular course, circuit or orbit, or a relatively smooth connection of bends in a course. Arc is defined as shaped like a bow, curve or arch.

Center for Lifelong Learning (CLL)

Thinking Anew About Slavery and its Legacy

by Ann Nash

In October, the Center for Lifelong Learning (CLL) presents a course entitled “Voices: Slave Narratives and the Words of Frederick Douglass, Booker T. Washington, W.E.B. DuBois and Ta-Nehisi Coates.”

Dr. Paul Levy, a well-known instructor who has taught several well-received classes at Leisure World, teaches the course.

His classes are usually a mix of a short lecture followed by thoughtful discussion.

Class Description

A tremendous amount of new scholarship about slavery and its aftermath has been documented since most residents were in school.

In Levy’s upcoming class, he intends to challenge attendees to think anew about slavery and its legacy.

He will use the voices of selected individuals to explore the history of slavery as historians view it today.

Through the words of slaves and enslavers, along with Frederick Douglass, Booker T. Washington, W.E.B. DuBois and Ta-Nehisi Coates, attendees will gain an understanding of slavery and its aftermath.

The class will look at three historical periods — the Colonial, pre-Civil War, and post-Reconstruction years — as a preview to discussing the Coates’ essay in Atlantic Magazine in which he proposes present-day reparations for Black Americans.

The first class session will begin with the origins of slavery in the Western world, and its spread to the Americas with a focus on Colonial America.

As a way to understand this, participants will examine some slave recollections and other pertinent documents.

The second class will use the words of Frederick Douglass as a guide to examine slavery in the Southern U.S. during the first half of the 19th century. The third class will review the words of Booker T. Washington and W.E.B. DuBois as they tried to come to grips with how freedmen and generations born after Reconstruction might achieve equality effectively.

From the knowledge acquired during the first three classes, the final session will be a discussion of selections from the essay “The Case For Reparations” by Ta-Nehisi Coates.

Those who enjoy substantive discussion and are willing to challenge what they have been taught, or have thought about slavery, will enjoy this course.

For course registration and details, see the Classes and Seminars section of this publication. For more information about all CLL courses and lectures, see (www.cllmd.com).

Instructor Information

Levy was educated at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, where he earned a bachelor’s in political science and master’s and doctorate degrees in education.

He enjoyed teaching at the secondary and post-secondary levels for 41 years, and since retirement has continued teaching at Leisure World and at other nearby adult learning programs.

September Meeting

This month’s meeting on Thursday, Sept. 13, features Sen. Ben Cardin, who is running for re-election on the Tuesday, Nov. 6, ballot. The meeting is at 7 p.m. in the Clubhouse II auditorium.

The Club expects that Cardin will have a lot to say about current events, including the multiple convictions of close, trusted advisors of President Donald Trump and their effect on Senate business. The Senate also is responsible for the approval or disapproval of Judge Brett Kavanaugh for the Supreme Court.

“Judge Kavanaugh, like the others under public consideration, was picked by President Trump off a list of judges pre-approved by right-wing advocacy groups for their willingness to turn back the clock on civil rights and liberties, reproductive choice, equality, the Affordable Care Act, clean air and clean water, and protection from the abuses of corporate and political power, including the President of the United States,” Cardin said in a statement released to the press on July 9.

For more about Cardin, visit (www.cardin.senate.gov).

October Meeting

Gubernatorial candidate Ben Jealous will be at Leisure World on Monday, Oct. 1, at 7 p.m. in Clubhouse II, along with running mate Susie Turnbull, who is from Montgomery County.

Jealous is more than a civil rights leader. He was named “Marylander of the Year” by the Baltimore Sun in 2013 because of his efforts to pass marriage equality, prison reform and the DREAM Act in Maryland. He has a business background and mentors young people at Johns Hopkins University who want to get into business. He served as the youngest National President and CEO of the NAACP.

For more information about Jealous or Turnbull, visit (Benjealous.com).

Sept. 17: Group Holds Fall Kickoff Meeting

by Joe Cook

The Chapter’s first fall meeting is on Monday, Sept. 17 at 2 p.m. in Clubhouse I, with informal discussions and snacks at 1:30 p.m.

Members will discuss the status of current issues facing active and retired federal employees.

Upcoming Events

The Chapter’s second annual Federal Health Insurance Roundtable and Expo is on Monday, Oct. 15, and is open to all residents.

The Chapter’s meeting on Monday, Nov. 19, features guest speaker Walt Francis, federal health insurance expert and Checkbook Magazine author.

Proposals to Limit Federal Pay and Retirement

The Senate passed a spending bill for 2019 that includes a 1.9 percent pay raise for civilian federal employees for calendar year 2019.

After frozen pay rates for three years from 2011-2013, NARFE believes civil servant federal employees deserve this modest raise included in the Senate spending bill.

This begins the process of countering the Administration’s proposed federal pay freeze in 2019.

Without congressional action, federal pay would be kept stagnant by the current Administration, which has clearly stated its intention to freeze federal pay for 2019.

Other Administration proposals include the elimination of cost-of-living adjustments (COLAs) for FERS retirees and a reduction in COLAs for CSRS retirees by 0.5% each year as well as other proposals to change the retirement calculation and increase contributions.

See NARFE publications and website (www.NARFE.org) for the latest status of all related Congressional action.

National Conference

NARFE held a membership conference in Jacksonville, Florida, at the end of August.

The conference included a former astronaut, current NPR correspondent, the director of the U.S. Office of Personnel Management and national experts on a wide range of federal benefit and annuity issues.

Direct Election of National President

The second round of of voting in the 2018 national election for NARFE president is available online, and votes are due by Sunday, Sept. 30. In addition to online voting from the NARFE website, printed ballots and candidate statements are included in the September issue of NARFE magazine, along with your unique PIN. Consult the Chapter’s officers if you would like their recommendations.

Membership Information

One of the most cost-effective ways to support federal retirement is to join NARFE. Chapter 1143’s dues are only $44 per year, of which $40 goes to NARFE’s national office.

Contact a member of the Chapter’s executive committee below for any questions, suggestions or for more information on membership or how you might be of additional support to the Chapter.

The Chapter’s general membership meetings are currently open to non-members.

Club Mission
For the past 50 years, RWC has engaged in volunteering and fundraising that benefits charities in the local area. RWC has also established college scholarships for local high school students.

Funds and volunteer support services have been donated to a variety of charities, including AWider Circle and Head Start programs, as well as organizations that provide services for families of wounded soldiers and charities supporting families affected by domestic violence.

At Leisure World, RWC donates to the Fireside Forum and FISH (Friends in Sickness and Health).

Membership
RWC membership is open to residents and non-residents. Membership affords the opportunity to attend all RWC meetings and trips. The organization provides members with an opportunity to meet new people as well as to make a difference in the community.

Many of the activities incorporate fundraising to support charities, while others involve volunteering on behalf of the Club.

To join RWC, mail membership dues of $40 per person, (checks only, payable to Rossmoor Women’s Club), to Arlene Siller at (3100 North Leisure World Blvd., #909, Silver Spring, Maryland 20506).

For additional questions or information, contact Siller at (abs929@yahoo.com).

Head Start Volunteers
RWC supports the Head Start program in a variety of ways. Club members collect hand-knitted hats and scarves for the pre-K Head Start class and, hopefully, the other two pre-K classes at Harmony Hills Elementary School.

Last year, RWC had over 60 knitted sets donated, which meant that not only the Head Start, but every pre-K student in the school received a set. The Club brings the sets to the school by the end of October.

For questions or to become involved in this initiative, contact Rita Posner at (ritaposner@gmail.com).

Going It Alone Club (GIAC) member Roma Sohn recently introduced the Club to the game of Mexican train domino during the Club’s usual gathering on Saturday at 2 p.m. in Clubhouse II.

The game is a timeless classic that has entertained kids and adults for generations. GIAC member Shelly Finkelman shared, “I like it because it’s nice and easy and fun,” “With this game, if you can count dots, you can have fun,” added Eileen Nector.

Bridge and Rubik’s cube begin at 2:30 p.m. Bingo is played on the second and fourth Saturdays of the month and Pokeno on the alternate Saturdays from 2:30-4 p.m. GIAC’s long-time bingo caller, Sylvia Pachenker, is looking for a member to assist her with that task. Anyone interested should call her at (301-598-5325).

Armchair Travel

On Saturday, Sept. 8, at 2 p.m. in Clubhouse II, armchair travelers virtually tour Bruges and Brussels, Belgium with well-known guide Rick Steves. While in Bruges, savor the exquisite art of Memling, climb a bell tower to get up close and fortissimo at a carillon concert, and sample fresh frites and the world’s tastiest chocolate.

And then armchair travelers ride the train to Brussels and stroll along Europe’s finest square, and take a close look at a medieval hospital.

On Saturday, Sept. 15, visit Amsterdam, Europe’s best-preserved 17th century city, filled with history and still happy-go-lucky – a delight to explore. Uniquely entertaining Amsterdam shows off its Rembrandts and Van Goghs, more bikes than cars and pot-filled coffee shops – all under tall, skinny facades leaning out over placid canals.

Trips

Back by popular demand, GIAC sponsors day trips to the following locations:

- Sept. 20 – Harris’ Crab House on the Chesapeake Bay plus the Amish Market at the Queenstown Mall. This trip is filled.
- Nov. 7 – Harrington Casino in Harrington, Delaware
- Dec. 11 – Dutch’s Daughter Restaurant in Frederick, Maryland, and Linganore Winecellars in Mt. Airy, Maryland.

For more detailed information on these trips, check the Club Trips section of this publication.

Sign-ups for trips takes place during SAL from 1:30-3 p.m. in Clubhouse II when a representative of the program committee is available to receive payments and answer questions.

The GIAC newsletter, which also has more trip information, is also available at that time. For questions about trips, call Joe Parker at (301-598-3457) or Sylvia Pachenker at (301-598-5325).

Membership

Those wishing to sign up for membership can do so during SAL from 1:30-3 p.m. in Clubhouse II when representatives can provide information and answer questions about the Club and its activities. Residents are also invited to call Sylvia Pachenker at (301-598-5325) for more information about membership.
Tips for System Preferences on Mac

by Brent Malcolm

Mac users can open System Preferences by using the Apple menu or clicking on its icon in the Dock. See “Note” section if the System Preferences icon is not in the Dock. When it opens, the Apple default is to organize the preference panes by Category. However, it’s much easier to find a particular pane if they’re organized Alphabetically. To accomplish this, go to the View menu and select Organize Alphabetically.

Users can go directly to a particular pane in a number of ways: (1) Right click on the System Preferences icon in the Dock and select any pane. (2) If the desired pane is represented in the menu bar (i.e. Sound) click on the menu bar symbol and select the associated preference.

Once System Preferences is open, the Search field at top right is great for going directly to a tab, or finding where a setting lives when the user is not sure where to look, even when the user is not sure of the correct term.

For example, using “login” or even “log in” as a search term can get the user directly to the Login Items tab of the Users & Groups pane. As the user types, a dropdown menu lists candidates, all of whose panes are spotlighted in the window. Users can jump to the related pane by clicking its icon or by clicking on the item in the dropdown list; the user will be sent directly to the appropriate tab in the pane.

To return from a preference pane to the icon array, click the Show All button – the rectangular button with dots.

If a user needs to use certain preference panes frequently, add them to the Dock for quick access. They are available in /System/Library/PreferencePanes. Since they’re essentially documents, drag them to the right side (or the bottom) of the Dock, depending on where the Dock is placed.

Note: Users who don’t have a System Preferences icon in their Dock can easily add it. Go to the Applications folder, find the System Preferences application and drag it into the dock. Users can place it anywhere to the left of the line or above the line.

Today’s Tip – Do Calculations with Spotlight

Boomers Socialize, Eat and Enjoy Life

by Beth Leanza

The Club’s August picnic at East Norbeck Park was a big success. The Club will have one more picnic in the fall. Boomers love movies, and show a different one once a month on a Friday at 7 p.m. in the Clubhouse II auditorium. Bring a snack to share after the movie. Food is not permitted in the auditorium. The next movie is on Friday, Sept. 21 at 7 p.m.

The Club also enjoys going out to dinner and a movie. Some Club members dine at Gordon Biersch in Rockville, and then catch a movie at nearby Stadium 13 or Arc Light Theater in Wheaton Mall.

Club members are looking forward to three upcoming musicals at Toby’s Dinner Theatre in Columbia, Maryland. Toby’s provides a buffet dinner or breakfast and ice cream bar, followed by a great musical performance. The buffet also includes specialties like avocado. Some walkers get together in the Woodend Sanctuary. Park at the top of the hill across from the gift shop.

Sunday Morning Walks
For a three-mile walk right here in Leisure World, walkers can meet up on Sunday mornings at 8:30 a.m. near the corner of Leisure World Boulevard and Arden Court (across from Kelmscot Drive). The group walks the entire Leisure World Boulevard circle. Usually, the walkers go out to breakfast after the walk.

Weeknight Walks
For a shorter walk on weeknights, meet at 5:15 p.m. in the Clubhouse I lobby. The group walks around the Broadwalk in Montgomery Mutual. No one makes an announcement, so be sure to ask around if you’re new.

Volkssport Walks
One Club member also belongs to the American Volkssport Association (AVA). He posts AVA walk information on (bbclw@googlegroups.com). Click on Walks, below the Calendar.

Joining is Easy
To join the Baby Boomer Club, send a check for $5, payable to Baby Boomer Club, to membership chair Susan Landesberg at (3505 Twin Branches Ct. 37-C, Silver Spring, MD 20906).

Include your address and phone number (if not on the check) and email address. Members who do not have email should keep in contact with a member who does, because the Club mostly communicates by email.

Adding the Baby Boomer group email address, (bbclw@googlegroups.com), to your contact list or address book will help to prevent the Club’s emails from ending up in the spam or junk folder.

The Club keeps its emails limited to activities that members might enjoy.

Club members who have joined but are not receiving emails are asked to contact Beth Leanza (at (301-598-4569) or (bethlea12020@gmail.com).

Want to Know More?
The Club’s website is available at (http://sites.google.com/site/bbdwlmd) and includes a calendar with walk information.

Comedy and Humor Club

The Battle of the Sexes

by Al Karr

A favorite theme during the weekly meetings of the Comedy and Humor Club is the sharp-tongued exchanges between husband and wife.

So it was at two recent get-togethers of Leisure World’s standup comedians and comedienesses. The current venue for the Club’s meetings is the Multi-purpose Room in Clubhouse II, where table tennis is played, which is appropriate because of the ping-pong nature of the Club’s jokefest.

The Club meets every Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in Clubhouse II. On the last Tuesday of each month, club president Sam Hack shows a video of a past TV comedy show, which is also good fun.

Taking the microphone at the last meeting were vice president John Lass, his wife, Charlotte, treasurer Sumner Levin, Fred Fernbach, Sam, Rudy Volin, Skip Schoening, Herb Hodes, Wally Becker and Al Karr. Here is an example of the jokes they told:

Herb – A wife tells her husband to buy a carton of milk, and if the store has avocados, to buy six. So he comes home with six cartons of milk because, he says, “they have avocados.”

Duckpin Bowling League

Sept. 10: Duck, Duck, Bowl
by Flora Wolf

On Monday, Sept. 10, duckpin bowlers begin a new season of challenging but friendly competition.

The League convenes at noon at White Oak Duckpin Lanes, located at 11207 New Hampshire Road in Silver Spring in the White Oak Shopping Center. The meeting covers some organizational details before the “good times” begin.

In May, at the end of last season, the League enjoyed a delicious and sumptuous luncheon, accompanied by the distribution of generous prize money for every participant.

League Information

The League’s weekly fee, $10.50 per person, covers the cost of three games of bowling, bowling shoe rental for members who don’t have their own pair, a weekly, printed update on individual and team standings, and prize money.

The League’s teams are mixed gender, as well as mixed skill! Members range in age over a 40-year span, and many have either never bowled duckpins or had not done so for decades beforehand when they joined the League. Don’t be deterred by a lack of experience. Skill comes with regular participation and the encouragement of teammates.

Most League members have formed carpools, and can help members who don’t drive.

The League also welcomes guests from outside of Leisure World who are at least 55 years of age. Snowbirds should also consider joining; the League can call on substitutes when needed.

Teams are forming for the season and the League’s “regulars” urge newcomers to join up for fun, exercise and good fellowship.

To ensure a place on a team, call one of the following: White Oak Bowling Alley at (301-593-3000), Liza Zarou at (301-814-0029) or Flora Wolf at (301-598-5807).

Players Compete at MISGA State ABCD Championship

Twelve Leisure World golfers competed at the MISGA State ABCD Championship at Norbeck Country Club on Aug. 9. The field consisted of 102 MISGA players from both Maryland and Delaware playing in four flights, so Leisure World Golf Club MISGA’s fielding 12 qualified players is significant.

The tournament was played single stroke, all from the Men’s Senior MISGA tees at 5,761 yards. Ladies were also included, playing from their tees at 5,452 yards. MISGA standard tees are 5,300-5,800 yards.

Of Leisure World’s 12 players, one scored a gross 92 with a net of 65, winning the first low net prize in his flight. (His gross score also qualified as the third low gross score in his flight, but players can only win one prize each in each flight.) His flight had the most players with 28, so competition was keen.

12 sellers and 8 buyers entrusted me to fulfill their real estate needs in our community in 2017. Here is what some of these happy folks have to say:

“As a Personal Representative for my mother’s estate I worked with Leo to sell my mother’s home at Leisure World, MD. Leo’s expert services did not let me down during this stressful period...” Rebecca Holober

“We have been amazed by Leo’s dedication to helping us find the right place...” Gordon Smith

September 7, 2018 Leisure World News | 47
Nicaraguan president Daniel Ortega has a vision to bring Nicaragua out of poverty. He wants to build a canal across the country, connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. It would be longer, wider and deeper than the Panama Canal and would accommodate ships—tankers and container ships—that are too large for the Panama Canal. It is believed that it would attract new investment and create tens of thousands of jobs.

Thus, in 2013, Ortega made a deal with a 40-year-old Chinese billionaire, one of the 200 richest men in the world, who would finance and build the canal. Nicaragua’s Congress enacted a law granting the billionaire, Wang Jing, and his company, HKND, a 50-year concession to operate the canal, renewable for another 50 years, after which ownership would revert to Nicaragua. HKND would pay Nicaragua $10 million per year for up to 100 years.

Building the canal is an enormous undertaking. HKND estimated that it would take five years to complete at a cost of $40-50 billion. Construction would require moving 4.5 million cubic meters of earth. As described in an article in The Guardian, this would be “enough to bury the entire island of Manhattan up to the 21st floor of the Empire State Building,” or “enough to fill two million Olympic-size swimming pools,” according to an article in The Washington Post.

The project would include building new roads and bridges, a new international airport, as well as worker camps. At 178 miles, the canal would be three times longer than the Panama Canal. It would also be almost twice as deep. It would be large enough to accommodate container ships with 25,000-container capacity. In addition, the project needs a cement factory because the canal requires double the amount of cement currently produced annually in all of Central America.

Technology Co., Ltd. encountered serious problems, not only in China but also in other areas, such as Crimea and Ukraine.

Meanwhile, in 2016, Panama completed a four-year project to expand its Canal, raising questions about whether the world needs a second canal in Central America.

April 2018 brought more signs of setback for the canal. HKDC moved out of its prestigious offices in Hong Kong’s second largest skyscraper, the International Finance Center. Jing could walk away from the Nicaragua project without negative consequences; there is no penalty for delay of construction.

In the same month, thousands of protesters took to the streets, rioting against reforms in Nicaragua’s welfare system. An editorial in La Prensa stated that Ortega had “lost control of the streets.” Nicaragua remains one of the poorest countries in the Western Hemisphere. At Leisure World, there is no need to build a canal. Facilities are near at hand and chess players have no problems meeting each other. In the game pictured on this page, it is Black’s turn to move. What is Black’s best move?

The solution follows the usual message that the Chess Club meets Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 1-4 p.m. in Clubhouse II. For further information, call Bernie Ascher at (301-598-8577).

SOLUTION: Black moves the Rook to c2. Checkmate!

So, do not wait for $50 million financing. Do not wait to fill 200 million Olympic-size swimming pools. Do not wait for a Nicaragua Canal. Play chess now!

EDUCATION

NEW – Voices: Slave Narratives in the Words of Frederick Douglas, Booker T. Washington, W.E.B. DuBois and Ta-Nehisi Coates, a CLL course:

There has been much new scholarship about slavery and its aftermath in recent years.

Instructor Paul Levy intends to challenge attendees to think anew about slavery and its legacy. He will use the voices of selected individuals to explore the history of slavery as is viewed by historians today. Through the words of slaves and enslavers, attendees will gain an understanding of slavery and its aftermath.

The class will look at three historical periods—the Colonial, pre-Civil War, and post-Reconstruction years—as a preview to discussing the Atlantic Magazine essay by Ta-Nehisi Coates in which he proposes present-day reparations for Black Americans.

Levy’s classes are usually a mix of a short lecture followed by discussion. Those who enjoy substantive discussion and are willing to challenge what they have been taught, or have thought, about slavery will enjoy this course.

Class meets Wednesdays, Oct. 3-30, 10:15 a.m. Fee: $15. Register at Clubhouse I.

For more information about the Center for Lifelong Learning (CLL) and its instructors, visit (www.clldmd.com).

Tap Dancing in a Chair with Carol Neckar: This is great way to have fun, learn something new and exercise! If you are an experienced tapper and miss it, or a beginner who always wanted to tap, but your body says “no,” this is the class for you. For experienced tappers, this will be a “remember when” and an “ain’t this great?” review. For beginners, it will be an easy start with the basics, moving to delightful music that will make your feet want to dance. It’s going to be a lot of fun.

Experienced tappers who don’t need a chair are welcome to take the class, but all students work from a chair.

No tap shoes are required, but participants must bring a pair of hard sole shoes.

Carol began taking tap lessons at age four, continuing through high school when she taught tap to offset the cost of lessons, and performed in recitals and community theater. In college, she taught dance for the Physical Education Department and, in the summer, continued to perform in local theater. While her career took her in another direction, her love affair with dance has never ended.

If you have questions, call Carol at (301-598-5980).
